Traditions & CELEBRATIONS

Today, Earth Day is celebrated in nearly 200 countries around the world. On this special day, we all work together to protect and preserve our planet along with its plants, animals, and natural resources. Two very important ways we do this are by recycling and planting trees.

On Earth Day, many people recycle. This is a great way to help reduce the amount of trash in landfills. By recycling your paper, plastics, and metals, you ensure that your garbage is used to make something new rather than polluting the land or water.

Another important part of Earth Day is planting trees. Trees take in harmful gases (such as carbon dioxide) and produce the oxygen that we need to survive. Trees also provide homes for many of Earth's animals.

HAPPY EARTH DAY

Remember that Earth Day is an important holiday in which we take time to appreciate and protect our planet. On Earth Day, we stop to think about all the things that we are doing that may be harming the environment so we can make wiser choices. Earth Day is a great time to reflect on ways we can preserve natural resources for our future and the future of Earth's plants and animals.

Here's a few ways YOU can celebrate Earth Day...

- Reduce the amount of water you use.
- Plant a tree in your yard or neighborhood.
- Reduce, Reuse, & Recycle
- Enjoy nature! Take a walk or go bird-watching.
